Pre-Reading Preparation
Author Biography: William Golding

William Golding was born September 19, 1911 in Tintagel, England. He attended school until the age of 11, then left to work on a farm. He began his formal education at the age of 12, and continued throughout his life. He studied at the University of Cambridge, where he received a degree in English literature and philosophy. He taught at various schools and universities, including Brasenose College at Oxford, where he studied under C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien. Golding attended Merchant Taylors' School, where he met his future wife, Ann. They had two children, a son and a daughter. Golding's study of English literature and philosophy, his teaching experience, and his travels around the world influenced his writing. His first novel, "The Inheritors," was published in 1955. He won the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1983.
